Sorry, a little late with these.....it's still morning somewhere.....

It's pretty straight forward, but keep in mind that we developed this with the data we had available in the BE regarding overlaps. We are open to better ways to refine the overlap if the resources are available to do it.

Hi Kris,

Yes, we owe you those, thanks for the reminder. In looking at our slides we realized that they were not really stand alone, so we're just putting together some text to accompany the slides. George is out today so we'll finish that up and get it to you Monday morning so that you have some lead time before the meeting.

Hi Nancy,

It was good to see you at the workshop last week. I was glad to hear that your vision of how to apply the usage data for agricultural uses is in similar to the method that I discussed at the workshop. I'd like to review the method you were thinking of and identify areas of similarity and difference. This should give us a good idea of areas of potential agreement and areas where more discussion may be needed in the upcoming usage workgroup meetings. Do you mind sending me any slides or text that describes the method you were thinking of?

Thanks,

Kris
